The conversational RowBotAI automated voice call agent can efficiently field thousands of commonly asked HR-related questions, saving valuable time and resources for SP Data Digital's core HR team.

"This is an extraordinary technology that enables our employees, located all throughout the US and Canada, to use a generative AI voice solution to interact directly with HR Policy documents, no matter their location," said Dan Plashkes, CEO of SP Data Digital. "Routine questions that have been repeatedly answered by our core HR team can now be fielded by the conversational RowBotAI automated call agent, and we are delighted by the results."

"We couldn't be more excited by our strategic partnership with SP Data Digital," said Ken Kalb, CEO of RowBotAI. "We are starting with internally facing content contained within the firewall, but will be bringing our AI call center platform to the market together with SP Data Digital and their call center solutions," continued Ken Kalb.

The collaborative initiative marks a significant milestone in HR policy access and exemplifies the shared commitment of SP Data Digital and RowBotAI toward driving innovation and efficiency in the realm of contact centers and AI voice technology.
