

Genesis 360, LLC, Expands its Information Technology Division to Include Cloud Hosting and Backup Services

The IT Division offers cloud hosting and backup services, data backup and restoration, call center operations support services, email, cyber security, and more.

BATON ROUGE, LOUISIANA, UNITED STATES, September 1, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Baton Rouge-based Genesis 360, LLC, has been a one-stop shop for maintenance and construction needs for over a decade. Offering IT Services since 2022, with today's advancing technology, the company recently expanded its comprehensive Information Technology (IT) Division to include cloud hosting and backup services to fully support commercial and federal IT needs across the United States.

Built on a reliable, responsive service foundation, Genesis 360, LLC, works across the United States with offices in Baton Rouge, Houston, Galveston, Virginia, and Maryland. The company's IT Division offers a full range of services, from email support on a smaller scale to large-scale cyber security assistance. Services include cloud hosting and backup services, data backup and restoration, call center operations support services, email and Office 365 support, product reseller services, cyber security, and more.

Founder and President Craig Stevens, a Louisiana native and retired Air Force Captain, founded Genesis 360, LLC, in 2011. The company started as a line striping company and, within ten years, grew to secure multimillion-dollar federal contracts. The company's multiple divisions handle a range of services, from landscaping and janitorial services to commercial construction and remodeling, project management, building and ground maintenance, and IT services. Stevens earned a degree in Information Technology and, as an officer in the Air Force, was responsible for implementing IT systems across several platforms. Today, Stevens is putting those skills to work through Genesis 360's IT division, which earned $4.6 million in the fourth quarter of last year alone.

"Technology is advancing and evolving every day, and our IT Division is available to support your business throughout these changes, providing advanced solutions to keep your data backed up and your network safe.

What one business needs in cyberspace is different from another because they have entirely different systems or platforms", Stevens says.

"You can't take a single approach with cyber security and think it will work for everybody. You really have to customize your specialties to that particular client. That's what we do, and that's what keeps it interesting."
