A mutual acquaintance put Jess and Zeb in touch with Parm and the trio, quickly hit it off.

Parm said: “Jess is a lovely person, and we get along really well. She is always open to new ideas and is open to new ideas and learning new skills. Jess really considers the information I give, takes it on board and implements the advice, which is rewarding for me as it means she will see much quicker results. She is always striving for better which makes her a great client to work with.”
