In the year 2044, a well-kept secret unfolds on Earth - the remnants of the highly advanced, self-replicating Haldis species imprisoned and hidden from the world. Kristin J. Wall's latest book, "Fate," transports readers to this captivating world, where the enigmatic "Copy 13" stands as the sole survivor. Haunted by the loss of her late primary and her twelve co-copies on a foreign, contaminated life sphere, Copy 13 faces an unavoidable fate - taking on the mantle of the new primary.

As Copy 13's resolve unravels, a startling revelation about humanity's state comes to light, thanks to an encounter with a plump primitive on the toxic beach. The world now reels from despair, with a fragile economic landscape, rampant pollution, and society fragmented into three distinct, remnant factions - the dirters, the leafers, and the ruthless, quad-walking, cannibalistic fleshers. Civilization as we know it is on the brink of extinction.
