Two College Soccer Players Offer Unique Glimpse Into the World of College Soccer

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, August 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Girls Soccer Network (GSN) is excited to unveil its latest endeavor, "the BIG LIFE" podcast. The first of its kind, the podcast provides an unprecedented and intimate look into the life of college soccer players. Sam Cary and Jordyn Wickes, both Division 1 college soccer players, host the podcast and bring their first-hand experiences to the forefront.

Cary, a defender at the University of Iowa, and Wickes, a forward at Michigan State University, offer a blend of authentic storytelling, candid conversations, and expert analysis that delves deep into the multifaceted journey of college soccer players in the Big Ten Conference and nationwide.

"Being a college athlete has been the best thing I have ever done, and I am stoked to bring more light and attention to this world. Women's sports are bigger and better than ever, and I am hoping this podcast will bring some of that energy over to NCAA Women's Soccer and the Big Ten," said Cary, podcast co-host. It aims to inspire athletes and enthusiasts alike by fostering a lively community centered around collegiate women's soccer.

"'The BIG LIFE' is not just an amazing resource for those thinking about college soccer, but it's also incredibly fun and entertaining. Sam and Jordyn are rivals on the field, and they have insanely great chemistry off of it," said Jen Gruskoff, GSN founder.
