

Jumbula Launches New Scheduling Feature for Private Sessions and Group Classes

Jumbula introduces the Scheduling feature. Program operators can now increase their top line revenue by offering private and group sessions.

SAN MATEO, CA, UNITED STATES, August 13, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Jumbula, a leading provider of online registration and payment systems, has released a major solution to the marketplace. Jumbula remains dedicated to meeting its users' needs and prioritizing their feedback. In response to the high demand and valuable suggestions of its user community, Jumbula announces the successful rollout of the Scheduling solution for private sessions and group classes. The Scheduling system enables program administrators to easily manage and organize their sessions. It offers unmatched flexibility, allowing users to register for classes per session, providing ultimate convenience for participants and instructors. In addition to per-session enrollment, users can choose to register for packages and memberships.

Business Advantages at a Glance

From a business standpoint, the new feature offers a range of benefits to increase top line revenue:

- Increased revenue: Program operators can generate additional revenue streams by expanding their product offerings.
- Attracting a diverse audience: The new feature provides a personalized environment for users who prefer private settings and offers group sessions for users who enjoy the dynamics of group interactions.

-Registration options: Participants can register and join classes with various options, such as single sessions, packaged classes and memberships.

Technical Advantages at a Glance

The private sessions and group classes offer the following capabilities from a technical perspective:

-Daily and hourly schedules: The capability to offer multiple sessions on the same day at various hours and durations.

-User-friendly registration flow: Calendar-based scheduling allows users to browse the classes and choose a session that best fits their needs and schedules.

-Flexibility in management: Offering classes at various days and times, packaging sessions, membership options and support for discounts.
