GAINESVILLE, GEORGIA, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, August 15, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Auto Metal Direct (AMD), a manufacturer and distributor of classic american muscle car and truck restoration parts, has released a new Steel Hood - OE Style designed for the 1967 - 1972 Ford F100 F250 F350 Pickup Trucks. The hood has been developed as an homage to the Bumpside trucks that have a presence in automotive history.

Hood - OE Style - 67-72 Ford F100 F250 F350

The 67-72 'Bumpside' series of Ford trucks, characterized by a distinct bumped line on their flanks, holds significance in automotive circles.

The restoration market has exploded for the 67-72 Ford Pickup Trucks and AMD is meeting those demands with premium quality restoration parts.”

Jason Chandler

Observations suggest a demand for a high-quality restoration hood for these trucks, and AMD's recent release aims to address this.

The reproduction hood has been carefully crafted to echo the original equipment manufacturer (OEM) style. Detailed attention was given to its curves, bends, and contours. High-grade automotive steel has been employed to ensure its durability and authenticity.

The AMD Steel Reproduction Hood aims to integrate with the truck's original structure, suggesting a seamless fit. The hood represents more than just a component; it speaks to the tradition of classic trucks.
