

Jameson Taylor Offers Free Ebook "Ways to Ensure Your Hurricane Insurance Claim Is Paid" Ahead of Hurricane Ida Deadline

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA, UNITED STATES, August 21, 2023

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Personal injury and storm lawyer Jameson Taylor wrote his ebook, "Ways to Ensure Your Hurricane Insurance Claim," to help Louisiana residents ensure that their Hurricane Ida Insurance claims are paid in full. With over a decade of legal experience, Taylor provides detailed information on what to document and how to submit proof of damages in his book. His ebook also provides information on what to do before and after any future storms.

After a natural disaster, recovering and rebuilding is overwhelming enough, and dealing with insurance claims can be an added burden. "Being prepared for disasters and taking the proper steps following property damage can immensely positively impact your ability to receive a fair settlement, especially when dealing with insurance companies," said Taylor. "Recovering from a hurricane or storm-related property damage can be a long and stressful process, often creating substantial expenses. To make matters worse, insurance providers often underestimate the amount they owe you."

Taylor's goal is to help those who experienced damage from hurricanes or other natural disasters get the settlement they deserve. "In some cases, the insurance dispute over fully paying a claim can be complex and nuanced," he said. "Because I have substantial experience in insurance coverage, I am able to assist with those tough cases where the insurer is using policy language to deny or limit a claim."

Taylor provides detailed information on what to document and how to submit proof of damages in his book.

The deadline to file Hurricane Ida-related claims is August 29 for Louisiana residents. "If your Hurricane Ida claim is not settled or you have not received your insurance money, I strongly urge that you seek advice from an attorney regarding filing a lawsuit immediately. A pending appraisal on your home damage will not extend the time to file a lawsuit," Taylor added.

The first step for those who experienced damage from Hurricane Ida is to check their policy to see if there is any deadline for filing a claim. Some policies will include a deadline. However, some will not. The next step is to contact your insurance company. If your carrier has gone bankrupt, you will need to contact the Louisiana Insurance Guaranty Association \(LIGA\) in order to start the claim process.
