Founder and CEO of Share The Vibes, LLC, Devin Jenkins, commented, "Share The Vibes Fest is more than just a music festival; it's a celebration of emerging artists, musicians, and the boundless possibilities that emerge when music and technology intersect." The festival remains dedicated to showcasing emerging talent, promoting STEAM education and awareness, and creating an inspiring space for networking and community engagement.

Devin Jenkins shared the genesis of the partnership, saying, "During the Blacks In Technology Conference (BITCON) in 2022, Dom LeRoux, founder of Lucky Penny Candles, and I first crossed paths, introduced by our shared associate, Jamar Jones of Foureva Media." After being captivated by the unique candle creations crafted by Lucky Penny Candles for Foureva Media, the idea of collaboration for Share The Vibes was sparked.

This initial spark led to the creation of "Smell The Vibes" – a captivating project that elegantly marries the sensory allure of fragrant candles, the harmonies of music, and the innovation of technology. "We introduced the 'Smell The Vibes' candles to our audience at the 2nd Annual Share The Vibes Music & Technology Festival," Devin emphasized.
