Sembly AI Expands Global Reach with Support for Right-To-Left Languages like Arabic and Hebrew in AI Meeting Notes

Effective communication transcends borders, and by adding support for right-to-left languages, we're enabling a more inclusive and productive meeting experience for individuals and teams worldwide.”

Gil Makleff, Sembly AI's CEO

With this groundbreaking addition, Sembly AI continues to redefine the landscape of efficient meeting management. The integration of RTL language support brings unprecedented value to users across diverse cultural backgrounds and languages, underscoring Sembly AI's dedication to fostering global communication excellence.

As part of its ongoing mission to empower businesses and organizations, Sembly AI recognizes the importance of bridging language barriers and accommodating diverse linguistic preferences. With RTL language support, users can now experience the full range of Sembly AI's innovative features, including AI Tasks & Semblian chatbot, which facilitates insightful AI-generated meeting notes and meta-analysis of meetings.

Sembly AI's CEO, Gil Makleff, shared his enthusiasm for this pivotal development: "Effective communication transcends borders, and by adding support for right-to-left languages, we're enabling a more inclusive and productive meeting experience for individuals and teams worldwide.

This expansion aligns perfectly with our vision of harnessing cutting-edge technology to enhance collaboration and streamline workflows. We want to extend a warm welcome to all the working teams in the many Middle Eastern countries that will benefit from this technology."

Incorporating RTL language support underscores Sembly AI's commitment to innovation and customer-centric solutions. Users can expect a seamless transition to a platform that is not only intelligent but also culturally sensitive, allowing them to effortlessly conduct meetings in their preferred languages and enjoy the benefits of AI-generated notes and summaries tailored to their linguistic needs.

With the addition of RTL language support, Sembly AI continues to set new benchmarks in meeting efficiency, linguistic accessibility, and cross-cultural collaboration. This advancement marks another milestone in Sembly AI's journey to redefine the future of meeting technology.
