Sears, whose tenure with LRI began as the West Region Manager, has been instrumental in the company's growth. His achievements range from establishing our West Region facility from the ground up to deploying new medical waste processing equipment. As COO, Sears will now oversee operations management for all LRI locations, strategically planning the company's ongoing growth.

“

We look forward to their continued contributions as we further enhance our services, streamline our operations, and create additional value for our customers.”

Brent DuBois, CEO

Hedden, who joined LRI two years ago, brings his healthcare expertise and focus on lean improvement and process-driven solutions. As General Manager for LRI North, he will supervise operations for hazardous, universal, and medical waste across LRI's two locations in Northeast Wisconsin. These locations
