

Forge Ahead: Traincrest Technologies Embarks on a Promising Journey with LPI Partnership

Exciting start for Traincrest! With 15+ years of industry experience, Traincrest's founders usher in a new era of learning.

NEW DELHI, DELHI, INDIA, August 22, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- In a remarkable stride towards innovation and excellence, Traincrest Technologies proudly announces its partnership with the Linux Professional Institute (LPI), marking a remarkable start for the burgeoning technology education company. This collaboration lays the foundation for a trailblazing era of enhanced learning opportunities and industry recognition.

Traincrest Technologies Pvt. Ltd., a newly established entity dedicated to shaping the future of technology education, has taken its first step towards elevating its offerings by joining forces with the Linux Professional Institute. This partnership presents a transformative opportunity to infuse industry-recognized certifications and in-demand Linux skills into Traincrest's comprehensive training programs.

Navigating a New Landscape: The Traincrest-LPI Partnership

The Traincrest-LPI partnership signifies an exciting alignment between two stalwarts in the technology education domain. As Traincrest Technologies embarks on its journey, this collaboration with LPI lends it an unparalleled advantage in delivering industry-relevant training programs that resonate with both professionals and businesses seeking to thrive in the ever-evolving tech arena.

A Strategic Vision: Merging Knowledge and Excellence

This partnership harnesses the shared vision of Traincrest Technologies and LPI, underpinned by a dedication to fostering a skilled and agile workforce. By infusing the training programs with LPI certifications, Traincrest Technologies ensures that participants gain not only theoretical knowledge but also practical expertise that resonates across industries.

Sakshi Gupta, CSO of Traincrest Technologies, shared her perspective on this promising collaboration: "Our journey with LPI marks a significant milestone for Traincrest Technologies. As a new company, this partnership propels us forward, providing learners with access to a world-class Linux curriculum and certifications. We believe this synergy will empower individuals and organizations alike, setting a strong precedent for our dedication to excellence."

About Traincrest Technologies Pvt. Ltd.: Traincrest Technologies Pvt. Ltd. is an emerging entity in the technology training realm, founded by industry experts with over 15 years of collective experience. The company is steadfast in its commitment to delivering high-quality, hands-on training programs that bridge the gap between evolving technology trends and practical skills.

About Linux Professional Institute: LPI is a global non-profit organization that supports the development of professional open source and Linux talent by providing vendor-neutral, globally recognized certification programs.
