But I have no doubt that each of the award winners will sprout in the years to come. This award will encourage many more who were not selected today but were maybe as deserving as the award winners today. Therefore, this should also be a great source of inspiration for all the other businesses run by eminent families, irrespective of whether they are on a small scale, start-ups, medium, or large scale. All businesses, big or small, contributed to the great India story that we were all privileged to be a part of."

Looking back at the growth of India's economy, there has been rapid change and improvement. "The action towards this journey gave them the courage of conviction to be able to say that this was going to happen, that this was the part that India was going to traverse over the next 25-30 years.
