Enjoy a Season of Melody, Poetry and Power

ATLANTIC CITY, NJ, USA, August 22, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- A Season of Melody, Poetry, Power and Maybe Just a Chance to Break Away! That's what's in store for the Bay Atlantic Symphony's 2023-2024 five concert season where successful young soloists who are exceptional symphonic musicians are celebrated.

Music Director Jed Gaylin conducting the Bay Atlantic Symphony.

Performances take place at the Guaracini Performing Arts Center at Rowan University Cumberland Campus in Vineland on Saturdays at 3 pm and at 2 pm Sundays at Stockton University's Performing Arts Center in Galloway Township.

Momentum from our successful 40th anniversary season last year continues. We had our strongest attendance in recent years. We even exceeded pre-pandemic attendance records last season.”

Kicking off the season is audience favorite piano soloist Alexandre Moutouzkine who returns to Bay Atlantic Symphony for the first concert, Melody and Color, October 21 and 22. Holiday Favorites featuring tenor Troy Koger is December 9 and 10 and Strings is January 21 and 22. Poetry and Power featuring piano soloist Janice Carissa is March 16 and 17 and Breaking Away! the season finale featuring cellist Tommy Mesa is May 4 and 5.

“Momentum from our successful 40th anniversary season last year continues,” said Bay Atlantic Symphony Executive Director Brian McPeak. “We had our strongest attendance in recent years including a sell-out of one of the final concerts. We even exceeded pre-pandemic attendance records last season.”

Maestro Jed Gaylin who celebrated his 25th anniversary as Music Director last season has curated an engaging and accessible program of music that is reflective of the times. The four young accomplished solo artists performing classical symphonic music are sure to delight and impress audiences.

Season subscription sales are currently open with single concert ticket sales starting in September. Both can be purchased on Bay Atlantic Symphony's website, www.bayatlanticsymphony.org.
