We are excited to provide Floridians with a resource that addresses past mistakes and, more importantly, builds a foundation for safer roads in the future.”

categorized as habitual traffic offenders, or drivers who have caused multiple collisions, Safe2Drive's new ADI course aims to be more than just a requirement that repeat offenders must meet to get their license back – it's meant to actually transform their driving behaviors. Through videos, engaging stories and interactive exercises, the innovative course addresses the root cause of traffic infractions by having participants examine the attitudes and emotions behind their own risky behind-the-wheel behaviors. The course seeks to illustrate an effective system for high-risk drivers to manage those attitudes and emotions so they can form better, safer driving habits in the future.

Safe2Drive's online course maximizes flexibility and convenience, allowing students to go through the course at their own pace and on their own schedule. Students can access the course anywhere that they have an internet connection and on multiple devices, including their phone, tablet or computer.

"Driving is a privilege," Carl Reese, the owner of Safe2Drive, commented, "and with this course, we aim to re-emphasize the responsibility that comes with it. We are excited to provide Floridians with a resource that addresses past mistakes and, more importantly, builds a foundation for safer roads in the future."
