

Dominion Energy, a Leader in the RNG Industry to Speak at the Southeast RNG Conference

PENN VALLEY, PA, US, August 29, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- When clean energy giant, Dominion Energy, determined that it would go all-in on renewable natural gas (RNG), the business development team, including Zach Chapin, manager of operations and marketing, along with other talented team members, were eager to take the lead.

Thanks to RNG's enormous potential and the work the team, Dominion Energy's commitment to RNG development has only grown. One of the major accomplishments has been nationwide partnerships with hog and dairy producers, currently two of the largest RNG partnerships in the U.S.

RNG is produced by capturing methane emissions when organic matter, like hog waste, decomposes. It's a proven waste-to-energy stream that reduces emissions, provides renewable energy for consumers and an additional revenue stream for farmers.

Not surprisingly, RNG is in high demand in the transportation and utility industries to dramatically reduce their carbon footprint through offsets or the sale of attributes fueled in part by RNG usage and procurement mandates.
