

SRT Partners with Docker Hub as a Verified Publisher

ANNAPOLIS, MARYLAND, UNITED STATES, August 30, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- South River Technologies, Inc. (SRT) announced today that it has partnered with Docker Hub as a Verified Publisher. This program recognizes SRT as a provider of trusted content, ensuring users a focus on quality and security. All SRT applications are available through Docker.

Docker Hub offers applications in Containers, which are like lightweight Virtual Machines that host a pre-configured application. The SRT applications in Docker Hub enable rapid and safe implementation of SFTP Server and Managed File Transfer solutions in less than a minute.

For customers in a test environment, SRT applications in Docker allow customers to quickly begin testing without the need to procure server resources. In a production environment, containers enable rapid provisioning of servers with a minimal use of memory. This is especially beneficial for Managed Service Providers and large, multi-site organizations.

“Offering containerized versions of our products shortens configuration time and isolates the test environment from production applications,” says Michael Ryan, South River Technologies’ CEO. “Customers can quickly realize value and seamlessly license the product in the way that best meets their needs. We’ve always focused on enabling our customers to easily evaluate our software by not demanding personal information or forcing sales meetings. Making our solutions available in Docker is consistent with this approach.”

SRT offers expert consulting services to assist customers with implementations running in any environment, whether in the cloud, as a Docker container or on-premises. All SRT applications are immediately available on the SRT Verified Publisher Page on Docker Hub.
