The KELLS on-demand, AI-driven dental evaluation finds problems in the mouth at early stages, allowing them to act for preventative treatments. Now, with the Dental Second Opinion Program, patients can submit their dental x-rays and charting to KELLS AI to evaluate the proposed treatment plan. Furthermore, after the patient receives their evaluation, they can connect through The TeleDentists platform for a video consultation with a dentist. The TeleDentists will connect patients with a dentist licensed in their State, so that they can review the AI findings and discuss treatment recommendations.
