About Overwatch:

Overwatch is a professional services, veteran recruiting, and general contractor business for Data Centers. As a strategic consultancy, Overwatch assembles a task force comprised of industry professionals, top-tier engineers, and military veterans with deep expertise in mission-critical operations. The mission: to build state-of-the-art data centers and fuel growth. Dedicated to achieving operational excellence, propelling industry advancement, and fostering professional development. Leveraging comprehensive programs, solid support, and effective mentorship, teams are armed with the tools, insights, and guidance needed to outperform in every task. At Overwatch, challenges aren't just overcome—they're redefined.

About Data Center Savage:

In the demanding world of mission-critical data center operations, the call for camaraderie and identity is recognized. Cultivating an identity is more than donning a uniform. It's about embracing the lifestyle and adopting a whole new mindset. With Data Center Savage, an e-commerce outlet is created to cater to those who agree with this. Here, an array of battle-ready apparel, rugged accessories, coffee, and more can be found. Data Center Savage is a testament to the unstoppable force that emerges when armed with purpose, conviction, and a damn good cup of coffee.
