

Morae and Henschman Enter Partnership for AI-Powered Contract Drafting and Review

Morae and Henschman today announced a strategic partnership to revolutionize contract drafting through the power and speed of artificial intelligence (AI).

HOUSTON, TEXAS, UNITED STATES, September 7, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Morae Global Corporation ("Morae"), the global leader in digital and business solutions for a constantly changing legal industry, and Henschman, the fastest contract drafting and negotiation experience ever made, today announced a strategic partnership to revolutionize contract drafting through the power and speed of artificial intelligence (AI). The solution is ideal for corporate legal departments and law firms looking to elevate the value of their existing contract databases or document management systems with the addition of an intelligent contract drafting interface.

Locating, packaging and delivering institutional knowledge to lawyers has to be the best use case for AI today.”

David Malkinson, Senior Managing Director at Morae

Staying abreast of the latest contractual clauses, terms, and templates can be a constant struggle for large and globally dispersed legal teams. While AI-driven legal technologies present an enticing opportunity to enhance contract processes, legal professionals must ensure the continued efficacy of service delivery, including adherence to professional best practices, corporate policies, and ethical standards. Morae and Henschman are partnering to address these challenges by combining Henschman’s innovative technology with Morae’s renowned expertise in helping clients unify and align technology and processes with the way they need to work.

"The partnership with Morae marks a significant milestone in Henschman's journey to empower legal professionals with the most innovative and secure contract drafting technology," said Siska Lannoo, Head of Customer Success and Partnerships at Henschman. "By combining Henschman's advanced contract drafting capabilities with Morae's exceptional consultative and support services, we are confident that our clients – regardless of their location – will experience a transformative shift in their transactional legal practices."

"Locating, packaging and delivering institutional knowledge to lawyers has to be the best use case for AI today," said David Malkinson, Senior Managing Director, Morae. "This partnership with Henschman is part of our overall vision for AI, enabling legal professionals to quickly leverage their collective knowledge to provide clients with more timely results and greater value."

The solution enables:

- Better use of team knowledge: legal practitioners can tap into their team's collective knowledge – enabling them to draft, review, and finalize contracts with unparalleled speed and accuracy.
- Customized client experiences: Morae's seasoned experts routinely work with clients to assess their needs and to implement the right solutions to meet their business objectives and unique requirements.
- Seamless systems integration: Legal practitioners can expect a smooth transition from their current contract database or document management system tools into Henschman's technology platform, backed by Morae's systems integration and data migration capabilities.
- Global by nature: From product design to customer support, Henschman and Morae can help global legal teams achieve their goals through multilingual approaches and a global presence.
- Peace of mind for security: Both Morae and Henschman are certified SOC 2 and ISO 27001 compliant, offering peace of mind for a secure contracting environment and support processes.
