Michelin is now seeing patients at both the Henderson and Las Vegas, Nevada locations.

Dr. Richard M. Michelin is a fellowship trained orthopaedic surgeon specializing in shoulder and elbow reconstruction, with particular expertise in advanced arthroscopic and open techniques for treating various shoulder and elbow conditions.

Born and raised in Las Vegas, Dr. Michelin states that he is happy to return to his hometown. “I always knew I wanted to come back to Las Vegas, and with my wife’s encouragement and the serendipitous alignment that brought Dr. Crovetti and I together, the opportunity to contribute to community healthcare here is a dream come true,” says Dr. Michelin.

Following his graduation from Sierra Vista High School in Las Vegas, Dr. Michelin went on to play collegiate baseball and earn his Bachelor of Science from California Lutheran University. He then embarked on his medical journey successfully obtaining his medical degree from Midwestern University, Arizona College of Osteopathic Medicine. His orthopaedic surgery residency took place at Riverside University Health System – a respected Level 1 Trauma Center and County Facility.

Further enriching his expertise, Dr. Michelin completed a Fellowship in Adult Shoulder and Elbow Reconstruction at Cedars-Sinai Kerlan Jobe Orthopaedic Institute in Los Angeles, under the mentorship of Dr. John Itamura and Brian Lee. He will be one of only two orthopedic surgeons in town who has completed an American Shoulder and Elbow Surgeons accredited fellowship allowing him to bring a unique perspective and highly specialized approach in treating complex shoulder and elbow conditions to the Las Vegas Valley.

"I'm grateful for the opportunity to learn from Dr. Itamura," notes Dr. Michelin. "Not least because the very first thing he told me at the beginning of my Fellowship resonated deeply with me: That he addresses every patient he sees as though they have lost faith in medicine and it is his ultimate goal to try and help restore that."

Empathizing with patients' struggles, Dr. Michelin underscores his commitment to being the physician who perseveres. "I don't want to be another doctor who leaves patients without solutions. My goal is to assist them in finding answers. Through research and innovative techniques, I strive to make a genuine impact on their lives."
