Trash Exterminator*

Trash Exterminator's eco-solutions not only prioritize the environment but also cater to client convenience. "You don't want your clean-out job to require a separate clean-up job afterward. Our goal is to ensure spaces are cleared and ready to use once we've completed our task. Whether it's full demolition, hoarder cleanup, or just hauling away a few bags, we leave no trace of trash behind," says Rashaun Alexis, Owner of Trash Exterminator.

The company's commitment extends beyond just eco-friendly trash removal. Their trained professionals focus on timeliness, budget adherence, and top-quality service. As emphasized on their redesigned website, Trash Exterminator strives to save customers money while also protecting the earth, demonstrating that responsible rubbish removal doesn't have to come at a premium.

has undergone a significant website redesign, enhancing user experience and accessibility. The revamped site offers comprehensive information about the company's eco-solutions, and full-service offerings, and demonstrates their unwavering commitment to being best in class. Potential clients can easily get in touch and request a free estimate for their job.

Rashaun Alexis adds, "We recognize the growing need for sustainable solutions in our industry. With our eco-friendly trash removal service, we're not just serving our clients; we're serving our planet. And with our newly designed website, we aim to provide an improved, seamless experience for our customers."

For those in the tri-state area seeking a responsible trash removal solution, Trash Exterminator is ready to answer the call.
