Ron Scharman, Chief Executive Officer and Co-Founder of FlyWithWine, shares "Last year proved to be an exceptional opportunity for us as a first-time exhibitor at the TFWA global conference. The response we received was truly outstanding. Introducing our portfolio of wine travel products to this global audience has opened up opportunities for new business relationships beyond the United States. This response has further fueled our belief that our products are an absolute fit for this niche retail segment. Since last year's event, we now have established new product distribution operations in place to support Europe, Australia, Asia and Canada. We look forward to reconnecting with the TFWA audience to further develop new key partnerships in the duty free and travel retail space to provide consumers worldwide with exceptional quality products that enhance their overall travel and shopping experience.”

About: FlyWithWine was founded in 2016 with a mission to solve the single biggest problem faced by travelers flying to and from their favorite vacation destinations with wines and spirits - there was not a travel product available that would ensure a safe and reliable method of transporting these wines and spirits to be able to enjoy them while reliving memories with friends and family.
