It does not possess quills and provides extreme softness enhanced comfort without excess weight, thus is highly valued by manufacturers of down clothing and comforters. In addition, it delivers temperature control to achieve comfortable sleep. Moreover, light and airy fibers are ideal to make pillow soft & supportive.

Bedding fabricated using down & feather is lightweight, provides insulation, and is an environmentally friendly alternative to oil-based synthetic material, which fuels the demand for down & feather, thereby driving the growth of the global market.

Furthermore, increase in purchasing power of consumers, growth in urban population, and rise in consumer preference for luxury & comfort boost the market growth. However, certain regulations laid by the EFSA Panel on Animal Health & Welfare (AHAW) for harvesting of feather from birds hamper the market growth.
