"Every contribution made during the reception directly impacts the American Cancer Society's mission to end cancer as we know it, for everyone," said Lenora Oeters, vice president of the American Cancer Society Ohio/West Virginia. "With the community's support, we can continue funding cancer research, advocacy, and free patient services which make an incredible impact on the lives of those affected by cancer." More than 1.9 million new cases of cancer will be diagnosed in the U.S. this year. Last year alone, the American Cancer Society touched more than 55 million people through cancer services, information, programs, advocacy and research.

Sponsorship opportunities are available for a limited time for those who wish to take a prominent role in this evening of hope and unity.
