EINPresswire.com/ -- Nearly 35 years after establishing Heyman Associates as the only executive search firm focused exclusively on executive level and C-Suite talent in communications and corporate affairs, Founder and CEO Bill Heyman announced his decision to retire and entrust the firm's legacy and next chapter of growth to Jessamyn Katz, who has served as President since 2019. Heyman will remain CEO through the end of 2023 to ensure a smooth transition, and serve as an advisor to the firm.

Founder of Heyman Associates, Bill Heyman, will retire at the end of 2023 nearly 35 years after establishing the firm.

"My life's joy for the last 35 years has been building relationships and truly getting to know the incredible talent, leaders, and organizations we have served," said Heyman. "Our firm has been responsible for filling top communications and corporate affairs roles for some of the world's leading brands, corporations, foundations, academic institutions, and professional associations. As the world demands more top-performing leaders who can shape the stakeholder landscape, I believe the best of Heyman Associates is yet to come with such an exceptional leader as Jessamyn at the helm."

roles in government relations, marketing, and investor relations. Previously as Senior Vice President and General Manager, Western Region, Katz worked alongside Bill Heyman successfully expanding the firm's regional and global operations, industry reach, and thought leadership.

"Since 2005, Jessamyn has played a pivotal role in every part of our business, serving leading organizations in many industries and regions while strengthening our team's knowledge, culture, and capabilities," said Heyman. "Jessamyn is the perfect CEO for Heyman's next chapter of growth in this dynamic business and talent landscape. In each and every instance, she brings our clients a strategic and agile mindset, deep knowledge of stakeholder-centric disciplines, and an impressive network of experts and talented candidates."

Jessamyn Katz, current President of Heyman Associates who has been with the firm since 2005, will step into the CEO position at the start of 2024.

“Like so many of the talented leaders with whom we work, I am incredibly grateful to Bill for his vision, thought leadership and mentorship over the years,” said Katz. “Working and growing at Heyman Associates for the last 18 years has been a pleasure and a privilege. Bill has been my #1 champion and role model, and I am honored to step into the CEO position.”
