Diversity in business...and in life, for that matter, is vital in creating a world that is inclusive to anyone and everyone.”

Rachel Speth

Rachel Speth, Co-founder and owner of Bambu feels that women-owned businesses should be highlighted, "Diversity in business...and in life, for that matter, is vital in creating a world that is inclusive to anyone and everyone."

The WBENC standard of certification implemented by the Women's Business Enterprise Council - Pacific, is a meticulous process, including an in-depth review of the business and a site inspection. The certification process is designed to confirm the business is at least 51% owned, operated, and controlled by a woman or women, and that the business has appropriate structure and strategic business planning and implementation in place.

By including women-owned businesses among their suppliers, corporations and government agencies demonstrate their commitment to fostering diversity and the continued development of their supplier diversity programs, which in turn empowers women as leaders and brings about a more diverse, balanced and sustainable economy.

WBENC Certification combined with professional development and engagement in the WBENC network provides unsurpassed opportunities year-round, both virtually and in-person, for women-owned businesses to grow and expand their business and innovation through events, programming and connections with major corporations and other WBEs.
