The Hollywood Book Reviews commended "I am not the Moon Lake Camp Killer," saying that it—

"... is an action-packed novel that will keep readers on the edge of their seats, eager to see how will happen to Liam next. Young thriller lovers, as well as those who enjoy a smidge of science fiction, would surely enjoy this novel."

This book also received commendation from the US Review of Books, which highlighted the following points:

Tambi Harwood

He checked his profile and there was a picture of the six of them at Peace Rock—a sheer cliff face with a 30-foot-tall peace sign spray-painted on it—where the meteor was said to have crashed.”

excerpt from the book

"Much of the story revolves around time travel, a difficult concept to write well. Harwood handles the subject adequately, although some ideas and events could have been developed more for depth of clarity. The powers the author gives to the different characters are fun and help maintain the reader's interest, and the interactions and motivations guiding the characters are enough to keep them from being flat. Fans of teen fiction looking for light and entertaining science fiction will find it within Harwood's pages."

The story of this masterpiece is about Liam, a 17-year-old teenager who has inexplicably obtained powers after discovering a meteor at Moon Lake Camp with his friends.

Liam is suddenly falsely accused of murdering twelve of his fellow campers.

Now he must not only clear his reputation and assist in the protection of his companions, but also assist in the search for the true murderer, an extraterrestrial who can not only shapeshift but also steal other people's "quantic" abilities. On top of everything, his future self reappears to murder him. How will Liam handle everything that is going wrong in his life?
