EINPresswire.com/ --

RoofersCoffeeShop®, the award-winning website where the industry meets for technology, information and everyday business announces a new resource with its International section sponsored by Xipre. The page is available on RoofersCoffeeShop, MetalCoffeeShop™ and CoatingsCoffeeShop™. The new section highlights companies and products outside of the U.S., celebrating their roofing accomplishments.

We believe in Roofing Respect® globally and want to celebrate our roofing professionals, companies and products across the globe.”

Heidi J. Ellsworth

“We believe in Roofing Respect® globally and want to celebrate our roofing professionals, companies and products across the globe,” stated Heidi J. Ellsworth, RCS president. “We are proud to work with Xipre, a leading distributor in Argentina of metal construction products. Our friendship with roofing companies in Argentina and more has led to a number of interesting project profiles and informational interviews and podcasts that our audience can enjoy.”

Dario Pussetto, CEO of XIPRE, says, "It is a privilege and a challenge for them to collaborate with this platform. Xipre has always believed in the power of sharing relevant content to help the community grow and build more sustainably and efficiently."

The International section can be found on all Coffee Shop sites under the News & Community navigation. It is a great resource to find podcasts, articles, project profiles and much more. Companies worldwide are showcased and encouraged to send in information about their projects and businesses. International companies are also highlighted with directories that can help U.S. roofing professionals connect with them.
