Vincent Trefethen

a dynamic and technology-driven real estate agency, proudly announces its remarkable journey and commitment to excellence in the Real Estate sector. Founded by Steve Trefethen, a seasoned real estate veteran with over 48 years of experience, Summerview Real Estate is redefining the industry with its core values of hard work, ethics, and innovation.

Steve Trefethen embarked on his real estate career in sunny Florida when he was just turning 18. His journey, however, began long before that, with the influence of his grandfather, Domonic, who instilled in him a green thumb and a deep understanding of honest, hard work. Growing up in Boston, Massachusetts, Steve had to overcome numerous challenges, working various jobs to support his family. From the Hood Milk factory to working alongside his grandfather on Commercial Street in Boston, Steve's relentless work ethic shined through.

Every morning, Steve and his grandfather would visit Haymarket Square to purchase fresh produce from wholesalers for delivery by 7:00 AM sharp. This commitment to hard work and honesty was shared by the small business owners in Boston, contributing to the city's greatness. After moving to Florida, marrying his wife Laura, and raising two children, Dominic and Vincent, Steve continued to nurture these values within his family.

In the aftermath of Hurricane Andrew, the Trefethen family decided to return to New England, settling in Southern New Hampshire. Steve, with his entrepreneurial spirit, transitioned from real estate investments and a successful landscaping business to a career in real estate. Thus, Summerview Real Estate was reborn.

Summerview Real Estate distinguishes itself by blending traditional values with modern innovation, challenging the status quo in the industry. As Steve's sons, Dominic and Vincent, grew up, they ventured into their respective fields – property investments and digital marketing/business management, respectively. These paths converged to bring Summerview Real Estate to where it stands today.

Vincent Trefethen, now a licensed Realtor® and Real Estate Agent, has taken the reins of the company, infusing it with passion and a vision for growth and expansion. The company currently operates in the Southern New Hampshire and Massachusetts markets while actively expanding its network across the United States, collaborating with clients from around the world.

Summerview Real Estate refuses to be passive; they proactively seek out opportunities in the market, striving to provide the best service to their clients.
