The Conference will be held at the think tank's headquarters in Washington, DC, and will be informed by the work of the CSIS Ukraine Economic Reconstruction Commission.

"Ukraine and Russia have been at war for over 9.5 years, and it is time to develop and finance a plan to end the war and start the transition to a fully transparent democracy and free market economy," commented Edmund L. Luzine, Jr., the Founder and CEO of Wytrwal, a former emerging markets investment banker, and a former Advisor to the World Bank's multi-billion dollar reconstruction program directed out of Sarajevo upon the signing of the Dayton Peace Agreement that ended the civil war in the Former Republics of Yugoslavia.

"We look forward to meeting with sophisticated international institutional investors, consultants, contractors, and government officials during this event that will allow our firm to discuss its 30-year track record of post-war reconstruction advisory work in the Balkans, Latin America, Africa, Southwest Asia, and Central Asia. We will ensure that work is focused effectively on post-war Ukraine," Luzine added.

Wytrwal personnel have decades of experience from successful engagements in working across austere, war-torn environments with development officials, government leadership, International Organizations ("IOs"), and many non-governmental organizations ("NGOs") in order to facilitate transactions, provide advice, and ensure donor funds are obligated and efficiently invested in projects that will benefit the local communities.

Wytrwal Industries is excited to participate in the Ukraine Economic Reconstruction Conference and looks forward to connecting with government officials, institutional investors, consultants, and other experts, and sharing its expertise and insights on post-conflict reconstruction projects across the frontier nations in the global emerging markets.
