An investment in the Fund is subject to investment risks, including the possible loss of some or the entire principal amount invested. There can be no assurance that the Fund will be successful in meeting its investment objective. Investment in the Fund is also subject to the following risks: Commodities Risk: The Fund and Portfolio Funds may have exposure to the commodities markets, subjecting the Fund to risks not associated with investments in traditional securities. The value of commodities related investments may be affected by changes in overall market movements, commodity, index volatility, changes in interest rates, or factors affecting a particular industry or commodity. Hedging Risk: Techniques used by the Advisor to hedge the Fund's investments carry the risks that such techniques may not protect against market declines. The techniques may also limit the Fund's participation in market gains. Further, such techniques may increase portfolio transaction costs, which could result in losses or reduced gains.

Subsidiary Risk: The Subsidiary will not be registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, and, unless otherwise noted in the Prospectus, will not be subject to all of the investor protections of the 1940 Act. Changes in the laws of the US and /or Caymen Islands could result in the inability of the Fund and/or Subsidiary to operate as described in the Prospectus and could negatively affect the Fund and its shareholders. ETFs trade like stocks, are subject to investment risks, fluctuate in market value, and may trade at prices above or below the ETF's net asset value.
