"As youth age out of foster care, they don't have the same opportunities and support systems as many other children in our society," said Philip Bailey. "Over 20,000 youth emancipate out of the U.S. foster care system every year, and by raising awareness and funds we are able to be a voice for the voiceless. Even if you are not able to adopt a foster youth, you are able to join the cause by providing stability through funding and mentorship."

Singer/musician Philip Bailey (Earth, Wind, & Fire) and his daughter Trinity Bailey founded the Music Is Unity Foundation in 2007 to realize their dream of giving back to the community by investing in agencies that support foster youth as they transition into adulthood. MIU is focused on developing new and positive ways to support youth aging out of the U.S. foster care system including offering educational and creative initiatives including their upcoming collaboration with Drum Workshop, Inc., a nationally acclaimed drum kit and hardware manufacturing company, the Foundation's first ever Hiring Event. The Hiring event includes an opportunity to tour the DW Warehouse in Oxnard, California with an opportunity for foster youth to apply for industry jobs. MIU recently celebrated its Second Annual "Level Up Experience", in partnership with The Purple Project and The Felix Organization, providing a free, virtual conference with "Ted-Talk style" workshops about future planning and careers, safety and health, self-care, and relationships as part of their mission to inspire, educate, and prepare foster youth for adulthood.
