Additionally, he has earned a doctoral dissertation in business administration from the University of Gloucestershire, UK, focusing on "killing sacred cows" within organizations. This innovative metaphor signifies modernizing organizations by replacing outdated rituals with more relevant tools and processes. Dr. Meyer's commitment to education extends to pro bono mentorship in several academic mentoring programs.

Professionally, Dr. Meyer's journey began with Accenture, where his background in psychology seamlessly integrated into the change management department. He played a pivotal role in overseeing and managing extensive and intricate transformational initiatives. Following his successful tenure, he was headhunted by a small bank to establish a private equity subsidiary. Subsequently, Stephan ventured into entrepreneurship, establishing a think tank dedicated to better change management projects. Since 2022, he has been at the helm of Almademey Limited in Cyprus, where he assists clients in achieving outstanding results in their change management projects through coaching and trusted advisory services.

Dr. Stephan Meyer's impressive client portfolio includes industry giants such as Volkswagen, Audi, Daimler, PwC, Zurich, Allianz, Novartis, Sanofi, Evonik, E.ON, and many more. On a personal note, Stephan is a native German and currently resides in Cyprus amidst the tranquility of an orange grove.

Dr. Stephan Meyer is ready to have a global impact by helping visionary leaders navigate the changing business landscape. He has extensive experience, innovative approaches, and a strong commitment to facilitating change. If you are a leader who is struggling with change, or if you are looking for a keynote speaker for your next event, contact Dr. Stephan Meyer today.
