Breaking from conventional approaches, this locally owned and operated clinic is committed to simplifying mental health care by integrating psychiatry, psychotherapy, and advanced therapeutic modalities for major depressive disorder and treatment-resistant conditions under one roof. Patients no longer must navigate the complexity of finding multiple providers, wondering which treatments or therapies they need or should consider, or if treatment is covered by their insurance. Instead, patients can get a collaborative care team and advocates to work with their insurance to get them a clear and affordable path to

"Medications may alleviate symptoms, but mental health is more than meds," remarked Christopher Perez, the visionary CEO and co-founder of the clinic. "Our success with treating the hardest-of-the-hardest to treat depression cases is a result of our deep understanding of the complex Colorado mental health landscape, insurance plans, and a genuine desire to help our patients get well. Patients need an advocate for their treatment, to have more options than just daily pills, and clinicians who are given the time to truly get to know their clients and help them meet their goals."

Axis Integrated Mental Health prides itself on offering 60-minute intakes and 30-minute follow-up visits. Visits can either be done in person in one of their three locations in Louisville, Aurora, or Westminster or via telehealth.

Axis Integrated Mental Health and the Louisville Chamber of Commerce will host a ribbon-cutting event on October 20, 2023, from 4-7 PM. The entire community, and especially therapists and providers interested in partnering with Axis to provide holistic mental health, are invited to meet our team, tour our state-of-the-art facility, listen to our nutritional psychiatry workshops, and celebrate the Louisville community.
