

Navigating Europe's renewable energy policies to diversify supply and manage volatility

Altenex Energy webinar with RE-Source next Wednesday, October 4

UTRECHT, NETHERLANDS, September 26, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- A free webinar next Wednesday, Oct. 4, will explore recent legislation, regulations, and policy trends shaping the European renewable energy market.

The Altenex Energy and Alfa Energy teams will be joined by Annie Scanlan, Policy & Impact Director at RE-Source, an innovative platform that brings together corporate energy buyers and renewable energy suppliers.

With major events like the Covid pandemic and the war in Ukraine reshaping global energy markets, policymakers continue to introduce new and updated legislation as a way to diversify supply and manage volatility. The on-the-record conversation with Q&A will discuss how navigating both the risks and benefits of these changes is critical as companies aim to meet bold sustainability targets and future-proof their businesses.

Topics include: National Energy and Climate Plans adoption, the Net-Zero Industry Act, France's solar car parks requirements, Germany's Renewable Energy Sources Act (EEG), and more.

Note: As a follow-up, the webinar recording will be sent to all registrants. We invite you to sign up if you cannot attend the live session.

What: Webinar, "Navigating Europe's Evolving Renewables Policy Landscape"
