Phoenix Security, a leading platform specializing in cloud and application security posture management, is thrilled to announce the appointment of Lee Vorthman to its advisory board. Vorthman brings a wealth of experience in various cybersecurity roles, fortifying Phoenix Security's technical prowess as the company prepares for its next growth phase.

Lee Vorthman is the Chief Security Officer for Oracle Advertising, where he leads a world-class team in Security Operations, Security Engineering and architecture, and Governance, Risk and compliance. His leadership has been instrumental in setting up robust security frameworks compliant with standards like ISO 27001, NIST 800-53, and the Sarbanes-Oxley Act.

"Adding Lee Vorthman to our advisory board is like adding a cybersecurity Swiss Army knife," said Francesco Cipollone, CEO and founder of Phoenix Security. "Lee's diverse skill set, from budgeting to vulnerability management, aligns perfectly with our mission. We're honoured to have such a distinguished professional join our team."

"I'm genuinely impressed and excited to be part of Phoenix Security's journey," said Vorthman. "The platform is impressive and changes the status quo on application and cloud security, unifying the two worlds. The risk-based approach is really unique, and the focus on actionability resonates with me as an executive. It's a game-changer, and I'm eager to contribute to its success."

Vorthman joins an already impressive advisory board that includes cybersecurity luminaries such as Chris Romeo, Xabi Errotabehere, Andrew Peterson, Jonathan Rau, and John Kinsella.
