-Reverberations: Calls of Conscience Inspired

An excellent culture is the foundation of a quality education, which is essential for sustainable economic development. A prosperous economy is necessary for a high quality of life of all.”

Dr. Hong, Tao-Tze, Zhang-Men-Ren (Leader) of Tai Ji Men

This heartfelt journey, rooted in the deepest cultural traditions, is a celebration of the grand opening of the Tai Ji Men Santa Clara and Pasadena Academies. Through a sensory and emotional feast, the audience will be infused with positive energy and genuine blessings, carrying forward the most potent force in the advancement of civilization – love and conscience. Together, we can change the world with love and conscience.

Bobby Rush, former U.S. Congressman and Chairman of the Host Committee of the Parliament of the World's Religions: “I am very inspired by the call to conscience and consciousness. And it has been a life altering experience for me.” California State Senator Dave Cortese said that he has been to Tai Ji Men many times to let everyone know that he recognizes the dedication and hard work that Tai Ji Men has done and will continue to do in the future. California State Assemblywoman Blanca Rubio said that Tai Ji Men has been encouraging residents to improve their physical and mental health through qigong for many years. Qigong continues to bring positive energy to families, workplaces and communities throughout the region.

Kevin Park, Vice Mayor of Santa Clara, expressed that Tai Ji Men is a valuable resource for every community and all age groups. He believes that if there were more places like Tai Ji Men in the world, fewer people would lose their way. He also found inspiration in their message. Linda Freedman, Vice Mayor of Walnut, noted the significance of following one's conscience and making decisions that benefit oneself, friends, family, and the community. -Echoes from All Walks of Life: Bells of Universal Peace

Tai Ji Men will also organize a solemn ceremony of ringing the "Love of the World Peace Bell" at this important milestone, inviting important leaders to ring the bell to pray for the world's peace, health and happiness, and the sustainability of world peace.

Jerry White, winner of the 1997 Nobel Peace Prize, rang the bell and exclaimed that it was an important bell symbolizing peace in the universe. Governor Gordon Samuels AC, the royal representative of Queen Elizabeth in New South Wales, Australia, rang the bell and praised: "We must commit ourselves to a future of peace, of reconciliation and harmony. It is not difficult of course to produce the appropriate words when one is speaking of such a thing. What is difficult, also peoples have always found it, is to match deeds to the words. Tai Ji Men understands this and understands that our conduct must mirror our words, must match our sentiments. We must learn how to live in peace and examples of the kind before you today point us in the direction in which we should travel." Ed Royce, former U.S. Congressman and Chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, expressed, "I've been to many countries in the world, I have not been to as many countries as this bell has visited. And, so that also is a powerful thought, that we are reaching out to every culture, every community around the world and spreading the message, it's a humbling feeling."
