

Rufus Ferguson II Earns Black Belt in Judo From 2004 Olympian, Ready for Howard University Football Journey

Rufus Ferguson II Earns Black Belt in Judo Under the Guidance of His Father, Olympian Dr. Rhadi Ferguson, as He Prepares for Howard University Football Journey

TAMPA, FL, USA, October 5, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Rufus Ferguson II, a rising star in the world of athletics, has achieved a remarkable milestone by earning his black belt in Judo, a feat accomplished under the guidance of his father, 2004 Olympian Dr. Rhadi Ferguson. This achievement showcases Rufus's dedication and unwavering commitment to the martial art that has been an integral part of his life since the tender age of four.

Judo, with its principles of discipline, respect, and technique, has played a significant role in shaping Rufus's character and abilities. The skills and mindset instilled through years of Judo practice have translated seamlessly into his football pursuits, setting him apart as a well-rounded athlete with a unique edge.

But Rufus's journey doesn't stop at his impressive martial arts achievement. He has proudly committed to playing football at Howard University in the upcoming fall semester. His decision to join the Howard University Bison football program is a reflection of his aspiration to follow in the footsteps of his father, Dr. Rhadi Ferguson, a 2004 Olympian and a fellow Howard University alumnus, as well as to make his mark on the field.

Rufus Ferguson II, speaking about his recent accomplishments, shared his excitement and gratitude, saying, "Achieving my black belt in Judo under my father's guidance is an honor beyond words. The values and skills I've learned through Judo have been invaluable in shaping my character and athleticism. As I look forward to my journey at Howard University, I'm excited to bring the lessons from Judo to the football field. My goal is to work hard, contribute to the
