In a market with world class cultural experiences, Cocoon Gallery will distinguish itself as an expert in functional, natural art.”

Cocoon Gallery*

Showcasing unique, organic materials including wood and precious minerals, sourced from some of the most remote parts of the globe, Cocoon features one of a kind, luxurious pieces of functional art. Founder, Mitchell Siegel, holds an exclusive permit to import exotic species of wood from Southeast Asia, Brazil, and other locations.

The products are 100-percent sustainable, according to Cocoon Gallery, and only fallen trees are sourced, and for each one that it receives, a new tree is planted in its place. Cocoon is a name that symbolizes a profound life changing evolution, and it perfectly characterizes this gallery where the most fundamental pieces of nature are destined to become timeless and treasured heirlooms.

When the materials arrive from their exotic and remote origins, to the Naples location, Cocoon's local and global team of 50+ exceptionally creative and skilled artisans spend countless hours to months transforming the raw and/or carved materials through a refinement process which may include kiln drying, sanding and finishing. Materials are then transformed into distinctive, exquisite sculptures, wall art, furnishings including tables, lamps, plus other home, and office décor.

Customizable pieces can also be commissioned to meet the needs of individual client requests and specifications. "Our fine wood craftsmen embrace the challenge of turning our clients' vision into reality and turning their house into a home," said Mr. Siegel.

In addition to a 25,000 square foot warehouse in Naples, Cocoon Gallery Palm Beach will soon open a warehouse in a West Palm Beach location that will be home to an even larger selection of art and will be available by appointment only for designers and customers.

"We are so looking forward to expanding our business to Palm Beach. In a market with world class cultural experiences, Cocoon Gallery will distinguish itself as an expert in functional, natural art. The unparalleled materials, impeccable craftsmanship, superb designs and uncompromising standards set Cocoon apart and customers and guests alike will find each visit to this new gallery space immensely gratifying," said Mr. Siegel.
