The partnership comes just one month after Good Greek expanded into the Orlando market, signaling a growing trust and deepening bond between the company and the Central Florida community. “Our expansion into Orlando was always about more than just growing our business, it was about becoming a part of a community we now call home,” said Spero Georgedakis, Founder and CEO of Good Greek. “Being named the Official Movers for two of the city's beloved sports teams, Orlando Magic and Orlando Solar Bears, underscores our dedication to excellence and service and commitment to the community.”

Aligning with top-tier teams is not new for Good Greek; in fact, they have the experience that counts. The company now holds partnerships with a dozen professional and collegiate sports teams across the state. Yet, what elevates the significance of this announcement is its impeccable timing. With Good Greek's recent move into Central Florida, and the season's commencement just weeks away, it signifies a fresh start and sets the stage for a promising season and future for all three powerhouse organizations. "We're excited to work with Good Greek as they continue expanding into Central Florida," said J.T. McWalters, Senior Vice President of Global Partnerships for the Magic. "With the continued growth of our region, our aim is to connect Good Greek with Magic and Solar Bears fans, as a trusted moving company they can count on."

The role of Official Movers for both teams not only builds on a business relationship, but also lays the foundation for future collaborations. All three entities have a deep-rooted connection to community betterment. From the community-minded Orlando Solar Bears to the Orlando Magic Youth Foundation to Good Greek's partnerships with the Red Cross and law enforcement agencies across the state for disaster relief, each organization inherently values and prioritizes helping others.
