The Future Stars Basketball Camp was founded in 2003 by renowned financial advisor Eszylfie Taylor, the star of Impact Network's Mind Body Money. The camp was created in order to provide athletic opportunities for underprivileged youth. A Los Angeles native and former student-athlete, Eszylfie understood the positive impact that a successful athletic camp could potentially have. The organization has continued to grow since its creation, culminating in the huge event that will be the fourth annual charity dinner gala.

Eszylfie Taylor has separated himself from the pack in the cut-throat business of finances, becoming one of America's top financial gurus. Aside from running his firm and brand, he has spoken at numerous events and conferences all over the world, teaching his signature Taylor Method to over 100,000 professionals. Eszylfie is focused on far more than his success, sitting on the board of several non-profits. He has also created and maintained his own non-profit, Future Stars, a basketball camp for underserved youth. He is tireless in his efforts to support young children through sports, mentorship, and scholarship opportunities. His lifestyle is on full display in the Impact Network reality show starring Eszylfie and his life, Mind Body Money.
