Although she could not be present, the support team of Assemblywoman Luz Rivas will be attending the Carnival of Wellness and Words to present certificates of achievement to the event organizers. Anthem Blue Cross is another contributor to the Carnival of Wellness and Words, sponsoring the event's free lunch. Local Supervisor Lindsey Horvath helped the organizers by co-sponsoring books to be donated with 986 Pharmacy, a company dedicated to local community support. Helping to make sure that enough books will be available for all attendees, the Kiwanis Literacy Club will also provide one thousand new books for the event at a highly discounted rate. Of course, the organizers will absorb all costs, and no attendee will be charged for a book.
