Erica Spigelman, the COO and co-founder of New Spirit Recovery, is not just a licensed counselor but also a best-selling author. She has pioneered The Rewired Program, a unique recovery model that seamlessly blends cognitive behavioral therapy, mindfulness, and self-awareness techniques. This comprehensive approach offers a transformative path to sobriety. Erica's dedication to the cause is deeply rooted in personal experience, having seen firsthand the devastating impact of addiction, including the rise of fentanyl overdoses, on her clients.

Although New Spirit Recovery offers a wide range of addiction treatment services, it recently took a public stand by sponsoring the "Fight Fentanyl" event, an initiative by FentanylSolution.org. This collaboration emerged from a shared understanding of the urgent need to address the fentanyl crisis. This alliance underscores New Spirit Recovery's expansive mission: to tackle addiction from
