

Georgia Manufacturing Alliance ends 3rd Quarter poised to achieve record year

Standout live events and industry-leading new members bring influence and inspiration to a fast-changing manufacturing industry

ATLANTA, GEORGIA, UNITED STATES, October 25, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Georgia Manufacturing Alliance (GMA), the most active and engaged community of industry professionals in the state, is having a very good year in 2023. Hard-hit by COVID-19 shutdowns, CEO Jason Moss knew he would have to work hard and think outside the box to regain momentum.

The results of that hard work are evident. Last year saw events and memberships grow, and this year, both events and memberships have increased dramatically.

Jason Moss. CEO, GMA

“We are so pleased to see people getting back out here, rolling up their sleeves, excited to learn of the new and exciting ways the industry is changing. We at GMA are here to help them learn, providing industrial tours, hosting manufacturing conferences, and helping industry leaders become stronger leaders,” said Jason Moss, CEO of Georgia Manufacturing Alliance.
