The Torch Awards for Ethics is the most prestigious honor Better Business Bureau Great West + Pacific bestows on businesses operating within its eight-state service area. Winners must demonstrate a high level of personal character, meet the highest standards of ethics, and build trust with their customers and the community.

“It’s extraordinary to see how each of this year’s award winners went above and beyond in the marketplace and their community. They are setting the standard for what it means to be an exemplary and ethical business,” said Tyler Andrew, President, and CEO of BBBGWP. “We hope this recognition can encourage others to step up in their respective businesses and build an ethical marketplace for all.”

Established in Bellevue, WA in 2012, Gallagher Construction, LLC illustrates their commitment by providing their Clients with transparency during the process and by delivering not only a well-executed design-remodel project, but also creating an enjoyable experience for the Client.

“At Gallagher we all have a very clear understanding that we exist as a residential design-remodel company because of our Clients, so we treat them accordingly”, says Sean Gallagher, owner of Gallagher Construction, LLC. “It is the creative and energetic tenure that we enjoy as a team, melded with the relationships and trust that we develop with our Clients, that together help galvanize the success of our projects”.
