Dones shares his own inspiration, stating, "Having grown up loving sci-fi movies from directors like Paul Verhoeven and John Carpenter, I've always been captivated by the genre's ability to reframe real world issues through the lens of aliens, robots, or in our case replicants. "Clone

Clone Cops” delves into the commodification of humanity by mass media and corporate interests, brought to life through the film's nefarious corporation—which is all pink slime, neon green acid bombs, and an army of bargain bin clones.”

He adds, “It's a lighthearted movie, disarming yet thought-provoking. Our aim is to entertain by offering a poignant message wrapped in humor.”

“Clone Cops” is proudly produced by Nashville-based HiPhi Productions and was supported in part by a Grant from the Tennessee Entertainment Commission. The film is currently seeking the right partner for Distribution.
