JenesisNow Insurance Agency Management System Announces New Integration with DocuSign eSignature

ELON, NORTH CAROLINA, UNITED STATES, October 30, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Jenesis

Software, a leading insurance agency management solution, today announces an integration between JenesisNow, their web-based insurance agency management system, and DocuSign eSignature. With this integration, insurance agencies can seamlessly create, manage, and sign policies and documents electronically, enhancing the efficiency and client experience. This integration will strengthen the trust between insurance companies and their customers through hassle-free e-signatures.

Our clients can now execute agreements swiftly and securely, which is not just a win for the agency but also elevates the experience for the insured.”

Eddie Price, CEO of Jenesis Software

The integration combines the robust, intuitive management capabilities of JenesisNow with the secure, globally trusted eSignature solution of DocuSign. JenesisNow is the web-based insurance agency management system by Jenesis Software. Agencies can now automate their signature processes, reducing the time it takes to get policies and other documents signed. This new venture will enable Jenesis to eliminate manual, paper-based workflows. This synergy not only accelerates the entire insurance process but also solidifies security and compliance, offering peace of mind to both agents and their clients.

“By integrating DocuSign eSignature, we're amplifying the ease of use and efficiency that JenesisNow, the best insurance agency software, is renowned for,” said the CEO, Eddie Price, of Jenesis Software. “Our clients can now execute agreements swiftly and securely, which is not just a win for the agency but also elevates the experience for the insured.”

This new integration enables businesses to expedite policy issuance, claims, and other document-signing processes. For customers, it means quicker service, enhanced accuracy, and the convenience of eSignature. These advancements underscore GenesisNow's commitment to innovating and enhancing insurance agency software, aligning with the modern, digital expectations of both agents and clients.
