

Tree Leads Today and Palmetto State Tree Pros: A Partnership Fueling Growth and Commitment to Excellence

ANDERSON, SOUTH CAROLINA, USA, October 30, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Tree Leads Today and Palmetto State Tree Pros have come together in an exciting partnership that is revolutionizing the tree care industry. This collaboration has not only led to a drastic increase in revenue but has also showcased the unwavering dedication of their crew to providing top-tier tree care services.

Since the inception of their partnership, Palmetto State Tree Pros, led by owner John Hunnicut, has experienced a phenomenal surge in business. John Hunnicut expressed his appreciation for the transformative effect of Tree Leads Today on his business, stating, "Tree Leads Today has provided us with a lot of work, enabling us to stay consistently busy and helping our company flourish."

The numbers speak for themselves, with Palmetto State Tree Pros witnessing a growth of at least 50% since joining forces with Tree Leads Today. Remarkably, this expansion has been achieved without the need to hire additional crews or employees. The crew's commitment to their craft and to delivering quality tree care services has been the linchpin of their success.

Despite the increased workload generated by Tree Leads Today, Palmetto State Tree Pros has managed to maintain their commitment to excellence and community service with their existing team. As John Hunnicut proudly mentioned, "We stay booked out for six weeks with our same crew, thanks to the efficiency that Tree Leads Today has brought to our operations."

A distinctive feature of their partnership is the focus on exclusive leads. Hunnicut highlighted the advantage of exclusive leads, stating, "Exclusive leads give us a much better opportunity to secure the jobs we bid on, which is a significant advantage for our business."

Geo-targeting has significantly improved the efficiency of Palmetto State Tree Pros' estimators, making their operations smoother and more effective. "Our estimators have become much more efficient thanks to geo-targeting," noted Hunnicut. Additionally, proximity of jobs facilitated by Tree Leads Today has streamlined their business, saving both time and resources.

When discussing their preference for phone calls over other forms of leads, Hunnicut emphasized the personal touch and enhanced communication it brings. "A phone call is a more personal experience for both the consumer and us as business owners. It allows for better communication and a stronger connection, which is vital in our line of work," he explained.

The dedication and commitment of the Palmetto State Tree Pros crew, coupled with the strategic partnership with Tree Leads Today, is not only driving impressive revenue growth but also ensuring the preservation of their crew for years to come in the community. This collaboration showcases the power of quality service and innovation in the tree care industry.
