

Suncrafted Cannabis Announces Release of Infused Cranberry Sauce Using all Local Ingredients for Thanksgiving 2023

The cranberry sauce and "live rosin" ingredients all are sourced from Plymouth County, home of the first Thanksgiving.

MIDDLEBOROUGH, MA, UNITED STATES, October 31, 2023

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Thanksgiving dinner debates will be tempered this season courtesy of Holistic Health Group, Inc. dba Suncrafted Cannabis, the sustainable dispensary & producer. Massachusetts tables set with the company's infused cranberry sauce made from fresh local cranberries, and Suncrafted's award winning live rosin, promise a relaxing holiday for their guests.

Tables across the State will be partaking in a cannabis infused Thanksgiving thanks to this limited edition cranberry sauce from Suncrafted.

Cranberries in the freshly jarred sauce are sourced from farms located just miles from the Suncrafted facility, one example of the company's local focus and effort to reduce shipping freight and emissions. The live rosin itself is a solventless concentrate from fresh frozen, then ice washed, sun grown cannabis, grown and processed at Suncrafted HQ. Live rosin is the most premium form of cannabis concentrate on the market in part due to the natural and solventless manufacturing process used to produce it. Antioxidant-rich cranberry seed oil is also added to help emulsify the concentrate in the sauce.

Today's release of this seasonal sauce is a great snapshot of how Suncrafted works with local partners to ensure its products are as sustainably sourced as possible.”

Tyler Eno, Kitchen Supervisor

Among Thanksgiving holiday traditions, spirited debates at the dinner table can become elevated, making a dish enhanced with cannabis a welcome addition for many. Three teaspoons (or one tablespoon) of the sweet and tangy, staple holiday side contain just 5 milligrams of THC, a standard adult use or “recreational” dose of the active ingredient in cannabis. Higher dosage versions of the sauce are available to patients with a valid Massachusetts medical card. For reference, a “puff” of inhaled cannabis smoke is estimated to contain roughly 12-15 milligrams of THC.

In the release of this product Suncrafted is promoting awareness of its own Cannacran® formula for one of the best cannabis gummies using some of the same natural ingredients, and the communal spirit of the Thanksgiving holiday. It is believed cranberries played an important role in the early Plymouth settlement, where the Wampanoag tribe introduced the Vitamin C rich fruit and other local food sources to the Pilgrim arrivals, thereby helping the travelers survive in the “New World.” Suncrafted recognizes this holiday and the cranberry, like the rest of Plymouth County, as important to the region’s history.

Suncrafted’s infused cranberry sauce will be available only at the company’s adult use and medical dispensary located in South Middleborough just off Exit 8 on Route 495. Pre-orders of the sauce are available by visiting the dispensary, ordering online at suncraftedma.com, or calling 1-833-SUNCRAFT (1-833-786-2723). Supplies are limited for this seasonal release, and the company expects inventory to move fast as Thanksgiving nears, so consumers and patients are encouraged to reach out early to reserve sauce for their holiday tables.
